

Contents No. 43

Trouble & Strife

Editorial Sophie Laws and Helen Lowe .....	2
‘We will never collaborate’ Sue O’Sullivan and Isabel Ros López on the Revolutionary Association of Women of Afghanistan; plus an interview with RAWA’s Tahmeena Faryal .....	3
In women’s name? Purna Sen questions whether western interests coincide with women’s interests .....	12
Afghan women organise Sue O’Sullivan and Isabel Ros López collate information on Afghan women’s groups .....	16
A living draft for Afghan women’s rights .....	20
Defensive and divided Pragna Patel of Southall Black Sisters on how September 11 has affected Asian women in Britain .....	23
Virtual campaigns and virtuous interventions Dena Attar takes a closer look at internet petitions .....	26
A statement from Korean women’s groups .....	35
‘We have to change our lives’ Palestinian women write .....	37
Naming male violence Elizabeth Carola gives her response to September 11 .....	45
Fundamentally fascist Marieme Hélie-Lucas of Women Living Under Muslim Laws, interviewed by Sophie Laws .....	46
Spiritual warfare Mab Segrest puts the US religious right under scrutiny .....	54
Israel: the other stories Helen Lowe examines religion, gender and politics in Israel .....	60
Open letter by Rape Crisis .....	66
Surviving sanctions Nadje Al Ali reports on women’s lives in Iraq .....	67